Particulars of the Loss of the Schooner # P. Messner, of Chicago.

CRICAGO, October 25.—The schooner R. P. Messner, of this port, on the 6th lost, during the prevalence of a fierce gale, atruck a rock on Crane island in Lake Michigan, and soon filled. The crew were taken of by a fishing vessel and carried to Mackinaw. Preparations were then made to get the vessel off; pumps were rigged, and after a few days' effort, the vessel was got off. While the tug Levisthen was towing her ashore she filled with water and capsized, and five out of nine on board perished before relief came. It is charged that the tug cut loose from the schooner when it became evident that she must sink, and left, making no effort to save the crew of the schooner, who suffered terribly until five died from extractions. Business to-day has been mostly confined to the counter. Currency is in good supply and accommodations on prime paper are readily extended. Rates remain at 10 to in per cent, per samoun and 12 to 1 per cent per month. The rapid advance in securities in New York indicates greater case and confidences in the future, and the fears at first entertained at the time of the great configuration in Chicago are fast giving way to a more healthy feeling. The New York Tribune says: "If money-paper money-can be scarce for any length of time, it will be one of the wonders of political economy, unless such scarcity is produced by a contraction of its volume. Its importry employment at Chicago, or any other place, may for a time disturb a central point, but, like water, it must soon seek its own level again. It was unfortunate that our banks should have been so extended when the great disaster at Chicago struck Wall street; but that any prolonged difficulty our visit the money market we hardly believe."
